What is the Enneagram?

The Enneagram is a powerful system that describes nine fundamental personality types and their interrelationships. From a narrative perspective, the Enneagram reveals the author behind our life stories, giving us an opportunity to re-author ourselves and re-write our life stories. At a deeper level, the Enneagram enables profound self-observation that facilitates spiritual realization.

Learning Goals

(Part 1)

- ◆ Discover your Enneagram "point of view."
- ◆ Learn how you can shift your point of view and alter your behavior to improve relationships with colleagues, bosses, friends, and mates.
- ◆ Gain an understanding of the functioning of the other eight points of view.

(Part 2)

- ◆ Find out what works best in therapy with each of the personality types.
- ◆ Realize what not to do in therapy with each of the personality types.
- ◆ Discover how your Enneagram type or "point of view" affects your clinical work.
- ◆ Recognize the correlation between the Enneagram and the DSM-IV.

Clinicians' Feedback

- ◆ "Very helpful, gave me a lot to think about. Good format — lots of breaks, good rhythm between theory and practice."
- ◆ "Extremely useful. In addition, I found it personally significant."
- ◆ "Instructors demonstrated warmth and competency, and work well as a team."

Clinical Consultation Group

Meets once a month:

Thursday, 9 am—11 am or

Friday, 12:30 pm—2:30 pm

Instructors

Carol Ruth Summers, MS, LMFT, LMHC, CET, specializes in providing fertile ground for learning and growing. She has worked as a counselor since 1970, obtaining her Masters in Family Therapy in 1978. From 1982 through 1988, while living in Berkeley, CA, she studied the Enneagram intensively with Helen Palmer from whom she obtained her teacher certification. She combines the Enneagram with a broad range of expertise that includes: Narrative, Gestalt and Cognitive Therapy; EMD/R; hypnotherapy; and the Myers-Briggs Type Indicator. She has taught counseling skills to graduate students at Antioch University.

Renie Hope, MA, LMHC, specializes in helping her clients reclaim a sense of joy, passion and meaning in their lives. She has taught the Enneagram for 19 years in business, university and personal growth settings. She has a Masters in Marriage and Family Therapy and has expertise in dream work, object-relations psychology, and the expressive arts. She uses the Enneagram successfully in her private work with individuals, couples, and groups. She is a teacher-in-training in the Diamond Approach and has been a student of that work for 15 years. In that context, she spent several years working with the Spiritual Dimensions of the Enneagram.
